++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold and dry at first, rain arriving later.

Today:
A cloudy start with a few mist and fog patches. Mist and fog will gradually clear, but skies will stay largely cloudy today. There could be a few spots of drizzle where the cloud thickens. Feeling cold under cloudy skies. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Tonight:
A band of rain will arrive this evening. Heavy at first in north Devon and Cornwall, but it will gradually ease through the night. Turning dry by morning. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Thursday:
Dry, sunny and cold for most on Thursday. A few showers may clip parts of west Cornwall in the afternoon. Feeling rather cold in a northerly breeze. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Wet and windy weather arrives on Friday. A windier day on Saturday with a risk of gales and heavy showers, wintry over hills. Drier on Sunday and winds easing.
